His Enthusiastic Reception at

Marietta, Ohio.

PRESIDENT HAYES

GREETED BY THOUSANDS.

Patriotic Speeches by General Key and Attorney General Devens.

BUT ONE COUNTRY.

MARIETTA, Ohio, Sept. 7, 1877. Marietta awoke this morning under a cloud threat-ening rain. Notwithstanding this the soldiers of the on were early on the streets with a determination to have a grand day. Heavy loaded special trains from Cincinnati and Athens arrived at nine o'clock, bring. ing about one thousand peaple. On the Cincinnati train were Mayor Moore and the committee to arrange with President Hayes for his visit to that city. At ten p'clock the commandant of the camp with the committee took a special train to meet the President at Devens, Mrs. Hayes and two soms, Rutherford and Burchard, arrived here at noon. A concourse of people, sitizens and visitors, numbering fifteen to twenty usand, welcomed the party at the depot. The dis tinguished guests were conducted to carriages in waiting and escorted to the head of a procession, where they were received by veterans of the Thirtieth Ohio volunteer infantry, who, with other veteran soldiers line, numbered nearly one thousand. About a dozen companies of State militia and citizens made up the procession, which consumed about an nour n marching through the principal streets. The line of march was thronged with men, women and children, waving har dkerchiefs and cheering. General Daval occupied a seat in the carriage with the President, Among the veterans were representatives of sixteen Ohio regiments carrying their tattered battle flags. The men were all in citizens' dress. There was a single representative of the War of 1812, Mr. Muzzey, of Guernsey county, in the procession. When the procession returned to the starting point the Presidential party proceeded to General Smith's residence for lunch.

The Columbus Cadets and their band, most of whom are personally acquainted with the President, occupied the place of honor in the procession. The demonstradate for Governor of Ohio, from the residence of Mr.

On account of the delay at lunch the President and party di not reach the park till nearly four P. M. In the meantime the concourse of people about the stand had swelled to enormous proportions, estimated at twenty thousand to thirty thousand.

MAYOR PALMER'S RECEPTION ADDRESS. In sight of a perfect sea of human faces Mayor Palmer delivered the following reception address:— MR. PRESIDENT-For many reusons I take pleasure in extending to you a hearty welcome to our goodly old city. At the outset of your professional career it was to Marietta you came to be admitted to the Bar. Many of our citizens have the privilege of knowing you personally, and a number of us had the distinguished honor of lighting at your side and under your immediate command during the closing mighty struggle of the war for the preservation of the Union. It is your first visit to your native State since assuming the trying outless of the Presidency-that State which has so often honored you, and which you have in no single instance failed to honor in return. But I especially welcome you to this great national reunion of the ex-soldiers and sailors of the war because the spirit which animated the committee in its undertaking an I successful accomplishment has been so completely put into practical operation by you in the administration of our government. I deem it erctore most fitting that you should be with us to day, not only because you are a veteran, but that your voice may here be heard in the furtherance of that spirit of harmony and good will so beautifully and so universally invoked by all who have addressed us during this memorial week. Ladies and gentlemen, I have the honor to introduce to you the President of the United States.

that spirit of narmony and good will so occupingly and so universally invoked by all who have addressed us during this memorial week. Ladies and gentlemen, I have the honor to infreduce to you the President of the United States.

THE PRINSIDENT'S REPLY.

President Hayes then stepped forward and was greeted with hearty cheers by the men and waving of handkerchiefa by the ladies. He said:—

LADIES, FELLOW CITIZENS AND SURVIVORS OF THE GREAT WALL—I wish that I was prepared to speak suitably upon this occasion. My friend, Mayor Palmer, in his address informs me that in every speech made at this great national reunion encouragement has been given to that spirit of fraternity which it is the desire of those associated with me in the administration to do something during our term of service to advance. We do not in meeting the people propose to discuss any of the grent party questions which divide the people who honor us with their attention. (Cheers, Questions of administration and economic questions we leave to be discussed before the people ty those who may be appointed by the respective parties to carry on those debates; but we do feel that if in visiting our fellow clitzens in different states we can add anything to strengthen the sentiment aliuded to by the Mayor, it is right and proper that we should do it. (Applause.) All who are lamitar with the history of our country know that a nundred years ago there was no North, no South; the fathers were one throughout the whole country; Washington and Jefferson were side by side with Frankin and Adams; Daniel Morgan and his Virginians marched from Virginia to Boston; they were at saratoga; and Nathanael Greene and his Continentals were in the Carolinas. The whole country belonged to the fathers. It is to that state of harmony, of fraternal friendship, that we desire our country to return. (A voice, "Good for you," and cheers.) We are for the Union as its. (Cheers,) We are for the Union as its. (Cheers,) We are for the Union as tis. (Cheers,) with all its amendments. (A

JUDGE KEY'S ADDRESS.

Judge Key spoke as follows:-Judge Key spoke as follows:—

FELLOW GITIZENS—I appear before you under peculfar circumstances. You have assembled here to recite the victories which you have won in former days; to recount the triumphant results which you achieved. I appear before you as one of the soldiery from whom your victories were won, your triumphs achieved; but, my friends, the cordinaity with which I have been received makes me forget that we have ever been rementes, and I assure you that I would made rather meet you as I meet you here to-day, as friends, than in conflict of arms as heretofore. (Applause.) My friends, the flag I tought for for four years has disappeared from the lace of the earth; the government I attempted with my compeers to establish is no more. We have but one flog, and that floats over every toot of our territory; we have but one constitution, and that we have but one fig., and that flusts over every foot of the search of t

(Great cheers.)

The President then returned thanks for the hearty and warm welcome received by himself and associates. He understood it had been expected that there would be an old-lashioned handsnaking about this time; but, as he had to attend a reception of the ibirty-sixth regiment in a few minutes, that would be out of the cuestion.

regiment in a few minutes, that would be out of the question.

The guests at once took their departure amid cheers to the City Hall where Colonel fluval presented the President with the battle flag of the Thirty-sixth regiment, which served under nim.

The fresident, in accepting it, replied happily in a few patriotic remarks, and was followed by Generals Devens and Key in brief remarks.

The schr Eim City, of New York, bound from New York for Providence, and loaded with pig iron, sorung a leak when off Crane Neck, LI Sound, and was run ashore just E of "Cidificid" Lighthouse, on the night of Aug 31. The captain, E D Kidd, contracted with J Harris, of Port Jofferson, to save the vessel and carzo. The entire cargo has been saved and transferred to the sent Wm Young, which vessel will proceed at once to Providence with the from. The schooler was gotten off in a damaged condition and now lies in the harbor here.

divers on Saturday. They report it to be a conical shaped rock, small at the apex, nearly 100 feet square at the base. The mode of operation will be to drill the rock, steel steum drills being used for the purpose, and charged with an explosive called dualin. After it is slown up the pieces will be hoisted out of the channel. The Cartain thinks that $6,000 is not sufficient to remove the whole of the ledge. PORTRIOUTH, Sept G-The wreck of the coal lades schr Clara J Adams, still lying on Beacon Ledge in this haroor, whither she was carried by a strong tide Monday last, is to be sold at auction next Monday.
